Turning the Dial for Youth Radio

It's almost time again to turn the radio dial to 87.7fm or www.eyr.org.uk to tune into the sounds of Eastbourne Youth Radio.

Celebrating the twelfth year, this annual project will bring together over two and a half thousand students aged five to nineteen from twenty five schools and colleges across the Eastbourne and Hailsham area.

They will be presenting one-hour programmes that they have prepared themselves. This will include live performance work by choirs, bands and drama groups. There will also be plenty of 'chart' sounds too.

A special feature of each programme will be the involvement of their sponsor. Sussex Police Authority will be leading the 'Launch Mix' this year with another forty plus business and community organisations playing their part.

"EYR is a fantastic project that has truly stood the test of time. It showcases our local young talent and enables them to learn and develop a whole range of life and personal skills", said Dr Steven Goss-Turner, Chairman of Eastbourne Education Business Partnership who organise EYR in conjunction with Sussex Downs College.

EYR is also registered as part of Global Entrepreneurship Week, helping to encourage and promote enterprising behaviour. See www.gew.org.uk to find out more and to be inspired.

Make a note now to tune in from 10.00am on Wednesday 14th November and look out for the special 8-page supplement being published with the Eastbourne Herald on Friday 9th November that will include the full schedule listings and stories from EYR.
