Sussex Police back Eastbourne Youth Radio for second year

Sussex Police are the lead sponsors of Eastbourne Youth Radio (EYR) for the second year running. They will be sponsoring the EYR Launch Mix from 10-11am on Wednesday 20 November, as well as covering a number of community safety issues live on air.

Eastbourne District Commander Steve Biglands said: "EYR is a great opportunity for young people from Eastbourne and the surrounding area to be creative and innovative through broadcast media. Supporting such an inspirational project gives us a great platform to talk about community safety in general, as well as discussing more specific issues such as bullying and cyber bullying.

He added: "We are also starting to see an increase around incidents of domestic abuse and sexual assaults between young people and it is vital to encourage victims of this type of crime to come forward. We also need to reiterate the seriousness and consequences to a generation who perhaps would not necessarily recognise this type of crime within their own relationships or friendship groups."

Tim Sorensen of Eastbourne Education Business Partnership said: "The support of local businesses this year has been fantastic and it's great to have Sussex Police on board for the second year. EYR is a brilliant project which provides mutually beneficial outcomes for both the education and business community, by bringing students and local businesses together."

M-Tech Systems hits the airwaves with Gildredge House

Leading Eastbourne-based IT company M-Tech Systems is proud to join forces with Eastbourne Youth Radio (EYR) to support two programmes for 2013. Started 10 years ago by its founder and Managing Director, Martin Lulham, M-Tech specialise in technology solutions for education and high-end enterprise infrastructure for business.

"We're incredibly proud to join forces with EYR in 2013", said Martin, "as the majority of our work is education-centric, we are passionate at M-Tech about helping to improve standards and opportunities for young people to learn and develop through the delivery of cutting edge and reliable ICT".

M-Tech works closely with a host of educational establishments across the south and beyond, with Martin and his team recently donating their time to oversee the installation of IT and telephony systems at Eastbourne's new free school, Gildredge House, whom they are also sponsoring for EYR. It has been a busy summer at M-Tech, with several other major projects also being undertaken, including extensive installations at Isle Of Wight College and Carshalton High School in Surrey.

Boasting a talented team of 10 IT professionals in-house, M-Tech is equally skilled in working with businesses of all sizes to establish how their technology requirements can be met, by bringing enterprise products and skills to those smaller entities. As well as a range of educational clients, M-Tech's impressive business client list includes solicitors, accountants and marketing companies, as well as smaller start-up ventures and even Chambers of Commerce.

M-Tech Systems is proud to work with a range of local charities, bringing them affordable and cost-effective solutions without compromising on quality. To find out more, why not come and visit us at our new office at Martello House, Edward Road in Eastbourne, or call us on 08450 511155.

Cavendish School at the heart of the action with East Sussex Fire & Rescue Service

Year 10 students from The Cavendish School visited their EYR sponsors, the East Sussex Fire & Rescue Service (ESFRS), to find out more about safety in the home.

During their visit, the students learnt about some of the main causes of house fires, which they will explore in depth as part of their EYR broadcast from 8-9am on Friday 22 November.

They interviewed members of Red Watch about the actual effects of fire and witnessed how the crew would tackle fires. During their visit, an emergency call came in and the students stood back as the fire engines dashed to the aid of a mother trapped in a lift with two children.

Once the mother and her children had been safely rescued and the fire crew returned to base, the students pounced to get the full details of the incident - in true journalistic style!

EYR gearing up to celebrate 13th year

Eastbourne Youth Radio (EYR) is gearing up for its 13th annual broadcast from Sussex Downs College.

This popular event, organised by the Eastbourne Education Business Partnership in association with Sussex Downs College, will take place from 10am on Wednesday 20 November – 4pm on Friday 22 November.

As part of the non-stop broadcast extravaganza, this year's exciting line-up includes programmes planned, created and presented by around 2,500 students aged 5-19 from the Eastbourne area, supported by sponsors drawn from local businesses. Listeners will be treated to more than 50 hours of music, live performances, interviews, competitions and other features via 87.7FM covering Eastbourne and Hailsham. Those that live further afield can tune in online at www.eyr.org.uk

EYR was launched in November 2001 as an initiative to engage young people in community issues. Using the medium of radio has created significant opportunities for thousands of students to create, produce and present material to a wide local audience and more recently, worldwide via the internet.

As in previous years, EYR will be bought to you live from studios at the Eastbourne campus of Sussex Downs College. Media students from the College are responsible for the smooth running of the event, working with schools, special guests and programme sponsors to present a round-the-clock schedule of programmes.

EYR broadcasts thanks to the support of 40 sponsors, who each take an active role in the programmes they support. They are listed throughout this supplement and without their help, EYR wouldn't be possible.

Sussex Police are lead sponsor again this year, commencing this year's broadcast with the EYR Launch Mix. During their show, they will discuss community safety in general, as well as homing in on more specific issues that can affect young people such as cyber bullying and domestic abuse.

East Sussex Fire & Rescue Service are one of our top sponsors, supporting two programmes this year; The Cavendish School and a programme presented by Sussex Downs College students. Safety in the home is just one of the important topics that will be addressed during their shows.

IT company M-Tech Systems is proud to join forces with EYR to support two programmes for 2013. As a key sponsor, they are supporting Gildredge House Free School's programme and the EYR Close Mix.

As well as shows from our local schools, colleges and community organisations, other popular EYR programming highlights include political panel show Answer Back! Sponsored by the Eastbourne District Chamber of Commerce, Answer Back! features a guest panel of politicians and prominent members of the business community, who will field topical questions from the audience. If that wasn't enough, a stellar line-up has been announced for flagship show Meet the Media sponsored by Sussex Downs College – with some of the region's top BBC journalists taking part. Full details are included later on in the supplement.

Broadcasting day and night throughout this year's EYR, Sussex Downs College students will bring a mix of music, documentaries, debates and lively discussion, delivered in their usual inimitable style. As in previous years, Domino's Pizza and Chartwells have generously provided catering to sustain the students during their programmes.

EYR is also part of Global Entrepreneurship Week (GEW) and has been recognised with its 'High Impact' award. Visit www.sussexdowns.ac.uk/eyr for the full story.

Tim Sorensen, manager for the project said: "As ever, we want to say a huge thank you to Sussex Downs College for hosting EYR and particularly to Marcus Abel, Jon Searle and Saffron Swansborough, for their behind-the-scenes production and the College media students. Thanks must also go to Chandra Fifield for producing this supplement and coordinating the Hospitality Tea. Finally, our biggest thanks go to the many sponsors and friends who have once again rallied to provide support for our 13th year. We hope that you enjoy reading this special supplement and listening to EYR 2013."

Tim added: "Eastbourne Education Business Partnership continues to broker many other exciting partnership projects between business and education. This includes the annual Pantomime Technology Challenge with Eastbourne Theatres on 2 December, Lighthouses In-Bloom 2014 and the 21st annual Young Engineers Challenge in January. Work is also ongoing to produce new online employability materials funded by the Big Lottery that will be followed with more practical activities."

Eastbourne Police

Sussex Police are delighted to have been given the opportunity to get involved with and support the Eastbourne Youth Radio again this year.

The Neighbourhood Policing Team are keen to communicate key messages to explain some of the work we do, specifically in relation to domestic abuse.

We are particularly focused with partners to help adults, children and young people feel safe to disclose, are listened to, believed, and not judged in respect of domestic abuse and to help young people to recognise the early signs of an abusive relationship, offering support as soon as they need it.

Should you find yourself in this type of situation or know someone in your friendship group who may be suffering, talk to us, we can help.

There will be live music from one ex-pupil who really knows how to sing. Listen out for a little RESPECT from Brighton and Hove Albion. A fun, action packed hour not to be missed.

10am – 11am

*Hankham Primary School
Sponsored by Faithorn Farrell Timms*

Hankham Primary School is delighted once again to be part of this year's Eastbourne Youth Radio. Hankham is one of the founding groups that established EYR all those years ago and we are very much looking forward to this year's event. Our school's broadcast will be a magazine-style show involving a lively mixture of stories, interviews, poems, music - and perhaps even a recipe. The whole school have been taking part in the lead up to the show and eight of our older juniors (pictured) will present the broadcast live from Sussex Downs College.

This year for the first time, our show is very kindly being sponsored by Faithorn Farrell Timms. We are very grateful for their support at this exciting time of building work at Hankham. Good luck to all the schools and organisations that will be taking part and congratulations to everyone connected with Eastbourne Youth Radio for its continuing success.

11am – 12 noon

*Northeast Manor School
Sponsored by Eigen Ltd*

Northeast Manor School will be marking its 50th anniversary with a show that reflects the history of the school and our commitment to special needs - a very important guest will be sending their personal message of support! Back by popular demand in the radio play will be famous names such as Churchill, Einstein, Jamie Oliver, Britney and co. As well as a popular playlist, this year's show will feature a live folk performance, jokes and jingles - and involve the school audience directly in its competition with a twist!

12 noon – 1pm

*Meet the Media
Sponsored by Sussex Downs College*

EYR's flagship show 'Meet the Media' gives young people the chance to quiz some of our local media personalities on their work and career paths. This year's exciting line-up includes BBC Radio 4's Alex Lewis, BBC South East Today's Natalie Graham, Rik Scott of Sovereign FM, Maria Hudd from the Eastbourne Herald and editor Corey Pellatt of SQ Magazine.

1pm – 2pm

Flowers have the power!

Stone Cross School visits local nursery and their choice of music to cook by. Whether your favourite food is Thai, Italian, Indian, French or British, there will be something to make everyone's mouth water. The recipes will be posted on our website too. Listen in for inspiration from the experts, as well as for live music, weather and news.

2pm-3pm
Plumpton College
Sponsored by Caffyns

Plumpton College will be hitting EYR with a sensational programme. Features include a Land Rover pull challenge in association with our sponsor, Caffyns – the results of which will be reviewed live on-air; 'The Best of Plumpton' – a live tasting session where we will sample a range of products that the College produces. Did you know for instance that Plumpton produces its own cheese and wine? We will also be catching up with Explorer Carl Haberl, who recently joined the Outdoor Education team, to hear about his overseas expeditions. There will be a live, in-studio floristry demonstration, we'll hear from local guitar teacher Mark Ben Wilson, as well as bring you a 60 second newflash of stories from around the College.

EYR Close Mix
Sponsored by M-Tech Systems

Don't forget to hang in for the EYR Close Mix, where we'll review the past three days of great radio and look ahead to plans for 2014. Thanks for tuning in!

Recently Stone Cross Youth Radio Club visited Stone Cross Nurseries and found out lots of fun facts. Did you know that the nurseries have been in business since 1956? They first started with one and a half acres of land near the Stone Cross windmill. Over the years they have expanded to two production nurseries as well as the main nursery at Stone Cross.

We were really interested to find out that Stone Cross Nurseries has so much there! The nursery consists of a woodland area with a wildflower meadow and two football pitches, where the local 'Stone Cross Royals' football team play. There is also a fantastic café where you can have coffee and cake and there are some excellent plants for sale too. For all those readers that have green fingers, we found out lots of information about plants. Did you know that the most popular plant for sale at the nursery is the tomato plant, and in the summer their best-selling plant is the petunia! We saw lots of fruit trees and many colourful plants that are all available to buy now.

The marvellous manager and owner of Stone Cross Nurseries, Garry Winwood, told us that the best time to plant is the middle of September until the end of November. If you have not yet bought your flowers, why not take a trip to Stone Cross Nurseries where you will receive fabulous service and find some fantastic flowers to plant! You could even have a cup of tea whilst you are there too. We had a great time on our trip to Stone Cross Nurseries – they certainly have flower power!

Stellar line-up for EYR's Meet the Media show

EYR has a stellar line-up in store for its flagship Meet the Media show – with some of the region's top BBC journalists taking part. Broadcasting from 12 noon-1pm on Thursday 21 November, Meet the Media gives young people the chance to quiz a panel of local media personalities about their work and career paths.

This year's exciting line-up includes BBC Radio 4's Alex Lewis, BBC South East Today's Natalie Graham, Rik Scott of Sovereign FM, Maria Hudd from the Eastbourne Herald and Corey Pellatt of SQ Magazine. Speaking about joining this year's panel, Alex Lewis said: "I love making radio and I can't wait to share my passion with a new generation of radio fans." Currently a Senior Producer for BBC Radio 4's Any Answers and Saturday Live, Alex has enjoyed a career with the BBC spanning almost 20 years. Like most in the industry she started out by pestering her local commercial radio station, making the tea, and learning the way of radio. This was followed by a Media degree and a post-graduate qualification in Radio Production. Since university, Alex has worked on a number of BBC stations and programmes including a stint at BBC Southern Counties Radio (Now BBC Sussex), BBC World Service, You and Yours, Woman's Hour, The Media Show, Any Answers, Radio 4 Appeal and Face the Facts.

Also preparing to be quizzed is Natalie Graham of BBC South East Today and BBC Inside Out, who said: "I'm used to asking the questions so I'm looking forward to having the tables turned and being interrogated by the students! I love my job as a presenter and reporter and look forward to encouraging the students to follow a similar career path." Natalie studied Psychology and Philosophy at Oxford but decided early on that a career in broadcasting would be perfect. After a postgraduate course in Journalism, Natalie was taken on by the BBC as a local radio reporter based initially in Crawley, then in Brighton. She started reporting for Sussex in 1996 and from there crossed into TV and joined the South East Today team. Join Alex and the rest of the panel Live on Thursday 21 November 12pm on 87.7 FM or online at www.eyr.org.uk

Plumpton College holds Land Rover pull challenge

Plumpton College competitors

Students from Plumpton College recently held a Land Rover pull challenge in association with their EYR programme sponsors, Caffyns. The whole College took part, with teams from the Forestry, Agriculture and Machinery departments and the Outdoor Education team. Caffyns supplied the Land Rover for the event, while students competed in teams against the clock to see who could pull the Land Rover 20 meters across a wet field. Who won? Tune in to Plumpton College's show on 22 November to find out – the winning team will be announced live on air!

Ocklynge Junior School dazzled at jewellers

Ocklynge Junior School pupils during their visit to W Bruford

Two pupils from Ocklynge Junior School interviewed Ashley Pugh, the manager of W Bruford, at the jeweller's Cornfield Road store on Wednesday 15 October. The children visited W Bruford to say a big thank-you for sponsoring the Ocklynge hour on EYR. During their visit, they were taken on a tour of the shop to feast their eyes on its glittering delights, learning that diamonds really can be a girl's best friend.

Did you study at SDC?

Would you like to become part of the Sussex Downs College Alumni Association?

EYR has helped to launch the broadcast careers of several former Sussex Downs College students and the College is proud to see its past, present and future students working together on the project again this year. To continue to broaden opportunities for career-focussed collaborations such as these, Sussex Downs College is keen to hear from ex-students whose experiences could inspire the next generation. The Sussex Downs College Alumni Association has been launched to benefit all of its students and members by sharing knowledge, exchanging ideas and creating a College community where past, present and future students can interact. If you would like to get involved, please email nigel.ryan@sussexdowns.ac.uk
